HOLLYWOOD'S NEW FACELIFTS BEYOND BOTOX!

How do stars look 10 years younger without going under the knife? We reveal the newest smoothers and fillers!

PLASTIC surgeons used to have only one quick-fix weapon at their disposal (hello, Botox!), but today there's a whole new range of wrinkle fillers to keep patients looking young! And you can bet Hollywood's taken notice! Unlike Botox, these injectables don't freeze muscles—they actually plump out the face to fill in lines. Star asked experts how they work—and what (if anything!) these stars might have done...

Restylane

The most popular filler on the market, Restylane is a gel that instantly fills in lines.

● Injections cost between $500 and $1,000, and usually last for six to eight months.

KATIE COURIC

Oct. 30, 2006

"The outer part of Katie's face had a bit of wrinkling, and now, it looks like that's gone," thinks dermatologist Dr. David E. Bank, who has not treated Katie. He adds that this could have been achieved with a thick filler, like Perlane or with Sculptra.
